This free 4-week online certificate developed by the Youth Research and Evaluation eXchange (YouthREX) will provide participants with the key concepts, tools and techniques required to manage and analyze quantitative data for a youth program evaluation.

Participants will have the opportunity to learn and use advanced formulas to manage and analyze data for program evaluation.

This advanced certificate builds on YouthREX's introductory certificate: Understanding Program Evaluation for Youth Wellbeing that provides youth sector stakeholders with a foundational understanding of the main concepts, approaches and practices relevant to conducting evaluation of programs and initiatives within a youth sector context.

The certificate was developed with the following understanding:

1. That the Ontario youth sector is committed to making a positive difference in the lives of young people, providing them with the skills and resources they need to make positive contributions to their communities.
2. That youth programs sometimes struggle to understand how to manage and analyze their evaluation data, and communicate their findings to stakeholders – including parents, funders, and youth themselves.

This certificate includes:

- ✓ 4 modules comprised of 8 lessons. Each weekly module requires up to 3 hours of work and includes specific recorded learning videos and other resources.
- ✓ 3 assignments that will guide you through practical steps on how to organize, analyze and visualize your program data.
- ✓ A discussion board for participants to post, share and engage with their peers and the YouthREX Teaching Team.
- ✓ A live orientation webinar on May 11, 2020, which will provide a walkthrough of the certificate structure and learning platform. At this time, participants can ask questions and engage with the YouthREX Teaching Team.
